Dear [Redacted]

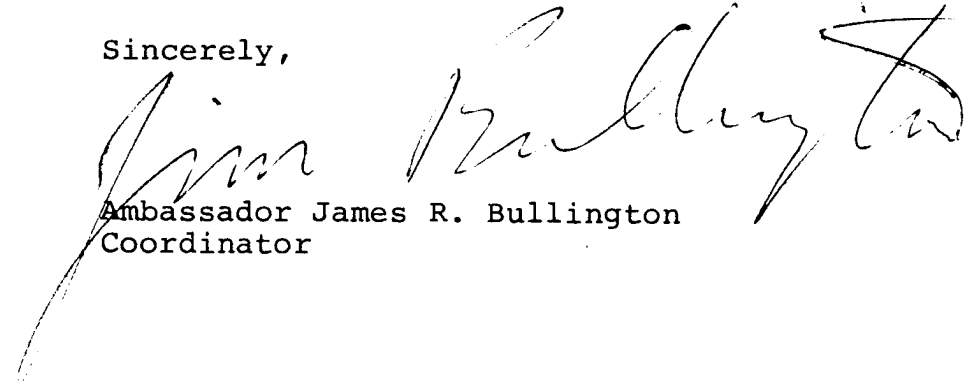

STAT

On behalf of the Twenty-ninth Senior Seminar, I would like to thank you for hosting the luncheon at the Agency on March 18 and taking time from your busy schedule to deliver such candid and thoughtful remarks to the group.

The entire day at the Agency was absolutely first-rate. The other speakers -- Bill Donnelly's opening remarks, Mike from the Operations Directorate, Helene Boatner from the Intelligence Directorate, and Jim Hirsch from the Science and Technology Directorate -- also gave candid, forthright presentations that contributed greatly to our understanding of the role of intelligence in foreign policy. Please convey our thanks and appreciation to these Agency officials.

As part of our week to examine the role of intelligence in foreign policy, the day at the Agency was outstanding in every way. Again we thank you and your colleagues very much.

Sincerely,

Ambassador James R. Bullington
Coordinator
